

Challenge yourself next Summer!

Join QUT's International Health & Medical Students' Leadership Development Program

Get ready to solve the health problems of the future! This is a program that will challenge you on every level – academically, physically, emotionally, socially, culturally, and linguistically.

"These 3 weeks have been amazing - I have tried more new things than ever in my life before!"
(Program participant, 2015)

Dare to be:

- internationally competent and connected;
- a strong team player with multidisciplinary solutions;
- a researcher delivering evidence-informed care.

At QUT you will live in new accommodation, in the award-winning Kelvin Grove Urban Village where university research and teaching is integrated with the real world.

You will visit health sector organisations, meet Australian health officials, participate in lectures on contemporary healthcare challenges and issues, and experience Australian culture, language and environment.

Fee AUD$3,245 (includes tuition, accommodation, some local transportation, cultural activities and social events)

Monday 25 July – Friday 12 August 2016
